MEDIA LITERACY WITH AFP AND ENTRE LES LIGNES

AFP – Key player in fact-checking and European Media literacy projects

Since its launch in 2017, AFP's digital investigation department has grown to have the world's largest network of expert verification journalists.

AFP has taken a leading role in the development of the European Fact-Checking Standards Network (EFCSN), which has created a code of standards for independent fact-checking organisations in Europe.

Every AFP fact-check offers Media literacy knowledges, techniques to the readers.

AFP's online learning platform offers open courses for journalists and journalism students to sharpen their digital skills, supported by the Google News Initiative.

Recognized as a reliable and global player, the Agency currently manages more than 15 projects within consortia, including 8 EDMO national Hubs, with DE FACTO covering France.

AFP participates to the yearly Press and Media Week at School offering to France's teachers and school librarians a free access to its products (text, photos, videos, graphics, fact-checks).

MEDIA LITERACY WITH AFP AND ENTRE LES LIGNES

ENTRE LES LIGNES – Experienced journalists at schools

Association founded in 2010 by AFP journalist Sandra Laffont and former Reuters journalist Olivier Guillemain.

In the school year 2022/2023 Entre les Lignes has provided 509 media literacy workshops in schools, libraries, prisons.

Each workshop aims at developing young people's critical thinking, providing them the keys to better get informed and to avoid falling into the traps of misinformation.

ELL is a community of 260 journalists from AFP, Le Monde Group and Contexte.

The association has recently received the agreement to provide professional trainings in teaching Media Literacy.

In 2023 ELL has delivered 13 continuing education sessions. 221 persons have been trained to teach ML.

MEDIA LITERACY IN FRANCE

National curricula (French, Civic education, History-Geography)

From September 2016 National Education Minister has implemented a transversal integration of Media Literacy in the curricula.

After the assassination of Samuel Paty in 2020, some specific measures have been put in place:

- In every academie (school sector): a ML advisor, a ML cell, more budget for CLEMI coordinators
- General guideline for teachers
- Guide to establish web radio especially at the secondary schools

The French lessons books' ML chapters are mainly included in the 4e, 3e (middle school) and 2nde (high school) school years. These chapters cover 1/5 of the program.

Teachers who want to organize ML workshops or any ML activity (create a newspaper, podcast...) for their students often ask their School librarian for help.

MEDIA LITERACY IN FRANCE

CLEMI – Key ML actor for teachers

CLEMI is in charge of MIL in the French education system. It was created in 1983 with the mission to train teachers to a better knowledge of the news media system and to build children’s citizenship skills by providing tools and fostering their critical thinking of media and information.

It has set up a local academic coordinators network within teachers.

CLEMI develops actions in schools such as the Press and Media Week at School launched in 1990.

CLEMI is also in charge of delivering continuing education on media and information literacy issues that has been integrated in French curricula.

On its website, CLEMI, also member of DE FACTO hub, offers pedagogical support for schools, online kits.
